

South Side

By Debbie McCullough

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of schools, spoke on "Problems of High School Students" at South's annual Spartan Laurels Banquet last Thursday.

From nominees in each field of the curriculum department, three certificate winners and a top-honor inscribed plaque winner were chosen.

The returns are in! Lynn Curtis, South's former president of the National Forensic League, chairman of the light bulb sale, and commissioner of public relations, is now South's ASB president.

Girls League chose Susy Levanas as its president and the male half of the student body elected Randy Kimose as Boys League president.

Literary recognition was gained by senior Gay Aegerter when she recently won second place in the Atlantic Monthly's National Creative Writers Contest. Gay, editor of South's yearbook, the Olympiad, competed with creative writers at the high school level from all over the United States. Also placing in the contest, junior Joyce Neu, received a Merit Award.

STARDOM MAY BE in the future for junior Peggy Gohl, lead in South's musical "Annie Get Your Gun." Earlier

Missionaries Will Tell of Experiences

Rev. and Mrs. Homer Specter, missionaries to Senegal, West Coast French Africa, will be telling of their experiences of combatting voodooism, illiteracy, witchcraft, and superstition among the impoverished, disease-ridden masses of Haiti and Senegal at the Bethesda Assembly of God Church Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

The Specters have served on the missions field for several years and are well experienced in reaching the peo-

Garden Checklist

1. This is very nearly the last call for planting tomatoes. Set nursery plants out at the earliest possible date.
2. Squash may still be planted from seed, as can root crops such as beets and carrots. Lettuce seedlings are often available in nurseries.
3. Cultivate garden beds to control young weeds and to loosen soil compacted by watering.
4. Feed azaleas, rhododendrons and camellias with an acid plant food, watering it in well.
5. Feed, water and pinch chrysanthemums regularly to maintain vigorous, sturdy plants.
